findCRA to Exhibit at the National Interagency Community Reinvestment Conference in Miami

Louisville – findCRA will exhibit its powerful online tools and resources to attendees at the National Interagency Community Reinvestment Conference from March 18th to March 21st in Miami, Florida. findCRA will be on-hand during the conference to discuss its groundbreaking Community Qualifier™ nonprofit search tool for banks and its CRA Certification available for nonprofits.

"The NICRC is an important event for anyone that works in CRA or community development," said Ben Loehle, CEO of findCRA. "This conference brings together key thought leaders in the industry and gives banks, nonprofits and regulatory agencies a forum to work together to address community development needs throughout the nation."

This year's National Interagency Community Reinvestment Conference, or NICRC, is organized by the federal banking regulatory agencies including the Federal Reserve Banks of Chicago, Atlanta and San Francisco; the FDIC and the OCC. A diverse group of over 1,000 public, nonprofit and private sector community development practitioners from around the country attend this unique conference, which is held every two years. The theme of this year's conference is "Aligning to Build Resilient and Inclusive Communities" and attendees can participate in dozens of sessions focused on the Community Reinvestment Act and community development.

"We look forward to meeting banks and nonprofits from around the country and sharing how findCRA can support their relationship building and research efforts," said Brian Waters, President of findCRA. "We offer both groups an innovative solution that streamlines the process for developing meaningful connections that ultimately help build stronger communities."

Founded in 2013 and headquartered in Louisville, Kentucky, findCRA brings order to the innumerable resources and opportunities available for Community Reinvestment Act participants by organizing everything in a centralized, online location. The company focuses on educating and qualifying nonprofits to demonstrate their alignment with CRA, and equipping banks with tools and resources to support research and relationship building with those nonprofits nationwide.

The NICRC will be held at the Hyatt Regency Miami and the program includes CRA training opportunities, regulatory panels, networking and tours of community development initiatives in Miami. The city was selected for this year's conference based its record of successful community collaboration in response to environmental and economic challenges.
